Harappan Sites

- Haryana government has officially declared two Harappan civilization sites located in Bhiwani district — Mitathal and Tighrana — as protected archaeological sites and monuments. These sites, dating back over 4,400 years, hold immense historical and cultural value, shedding light on the evolution of early agricultural societies, town planning, craft industries, and trade during the Harappan and post-Harappan periods.

- The sites have now been brought under legal protection through a notification issued by the Haryana Heritage and Tourism Department under the Haryana Ancient and Historical Monuments and Archaeological Sites and Remains Act, 1964.
- The move aims to safeguard these ancient settlements from encroachment and damage, with fencing and security arrangements to be implemented.
- Mitathal Site (Harappan Civilization) : First discovered in 1913, with a hoard of coins belonging to Samudra Gupta (Gupta dynasty). Excavated in 1968, revealing the Copper-Bronze Age culture of the Indo-Gangetic divide (3rd–2nd millennia BCE). Excavations from 1965 to 1968 uncovered proto-historic material, including beads and copper implements.

- Archaeological features : Harappan-style town planning, architecture, arts, and crafts. Pottery: Sturdy red ware, well-burnt and painted in black with pipal leaf, fish scale, and geometric designs. Artifacts: Beads, bangles, terracotta, and objects made of stone, shell, copper, ivory, and bone.

- Tighrana Site (Post-Harappan/Chalcolithic Culture) : Settlement dating back to around 2,400 BCE. Inhabited by Chalcolithic agricultural communities called Sothians. Located at Chang, Mitathal, Tighrana, and nearby regions.
- Settlement features : Thatched-roofed mud-brick houses, possibly fortified. 50 to 100 houses per settlement.
